

Flexible Work for Coolest Project Around

Seeking focused professional for contract support of a coalition developing advanced emergency alerting network using Next Gen TV. Requirements include excellent writing and editing, awesome PowerPoint creation, web design and content, seamless meeting planning, and effective personal communications. Light expense tracking and scheduling included.

Experience in at least one of the following fields also is required: television news (broadcast and/or digital), other streaming or online video, UX/UI design, emergency communications, telecommunications, or specific policy or journalistic expertise in those fields.

Offers flexibility and less-than-fulltime scheduling, competitive hourly rate with opportunity for advancement, combination of remote and in-office work, and some travel. Reports as independent contractor to principal of consulting firm that manages the coalition.
